First-Time Freshman Admission Policy

Balanced consideration for university admission is given to all aspects of an applicant's high school performance, including selection of college-preparatory courses, academic rigor, grade point average, grade pattern throughout high school, and record of leadership and service inclusive of extracurricular and cocurricular activities. Listed below are admission requirements for St. Mary's University.

Requirements for Admission

- Application for Admission
- Official High School Transcripts or equivalent (GED)

Recommended Documentation:

- Personal Essay
- Letter of Recommendation
- SAT or ACT Scores
- Resume or Record of high school extracurricular involvement

Admitted freshman who elect to defer their offer of admission to a subsequent term may do so for one consecutive year without needing to submit a new application. Any deferral past one academic year would necessitate the submission of a new application for admission. First time freshman should not enroll in courses at any other institution during their gap or deferral period. Should an enrollment occur, re-application to St. Mary's University will be required as a transfer applicant and transfer admission criteria will be applicable.

Students that do not meet our admission criteria upon initial evaluation of their academic and cocurricular credentials may be deferred and given the opportunity to submit additional supporting documentation to strengthen the quality of their application.

Students that do not meet St. Mary's admission standards will be denied admission from the university.

Transfer Student Admission Policy

A transfer student is any student new to St. Mary's University who enrolled at another college/university or earned college credit after high school graduation prior to attendance at St. Mary's University.

Admission Requirements:

1. Application for Admission - A completed application for admission is available using either the St. Mary's University online application at www.stmarytx.edu (<http://www.stmarytx.edu>) , ApplyTexas application, The Common Application, or the Coalition for College Application.
2. Transcripts - Present an official transcript from each college-level institution attended. Failure to list all previously attended institutions on the application can result in future dismissal or rescinding of offer of admission.

Transfer students with fewer than 30 transferable semester hours of college work must submit an official high school transcript from which the student graduated or an official copy of the General Education Development Diploma (GED) test results.

Upon admission to St. Mary's University, all course work from regionally accredited institutions and foreign institutions will be evaluated for equivalent credit on a course-by-course basis provided a grade of "C" (2.0/4.0) or higher is recorded on an official transcript. The grades of transfer courses are not computed in the St. Mary's grade point average, but are computed in the determination of the transfer applicants cumulative transfer GPA for admission purposes.

Admitted transfer students who elect to defer their offer of admission to a subsequent term may do so for one consecutive year without needing to submit a new application. Any deferral past one academic year would necessitate the submission of a new application for admission. During the deferral period, should a student have attended any other institution of higher education, a re-review of the student's application will be indicated with updated supporting documents as outlined above submitted.

Students that do not meet our admission criteria upon initial evaluation of their academic and cocurricular credentials may be deferred and given the opportunity to submit additional supporting documentation to strengthen the quality of their application.

Students that do not meet St. Mary's admission standards will be denied admission from the university.
